

Loma Linda Briefs

LOMA LINDA, Oct. 4.—Dr. T. E. Bartholomew, class of '28, of Cal-exico, was a recent week-end visitor.

C. V. Atteberry, M. D., class of '27, has recently moved from Hawthorne to the Professional building, Inglewood.

Dr. S. W. Sensiba, class of '25, who is engaged in public school health work in Los Angeles, has recently moved to Loma Linda for a few months vacation.

C. W. Pierce, manager of the vegetarian cafeteria of San Francisco, was a week-end visitor here.

Dr. C. Glenn Curtis, class of '24, of Brea, and his mother were week-end callers.

Dr. C. C. Landis of the Health Betterment institute of San Francisco spoke at the Friday evening meeting last week. He told of many interesting developments in connection with their medical missionary work there.

Roy Rife, who operates a research laboratory in San Diego, visited Dr. Herbert F. Tindall of the pathology department last week and gave many useful suggestions regarding improvements in the photomicrographic department.

Dr. Daniel L. Burgeson, medical director of the Loma Linda sanitarium, has gone to Boston to attend the sessions of the American Hospital association and of the American College of Surgeons. He will spend some time in Chicago and Washington en route.

J. H. N. Tindall, of San Francisco, spoke at the Saturday morning church service.

Twenty graduates of the College of Medical Evangelists recently passed part 3 of the national board examinations given in Los Angeles. Twenty-six graduates of the College of Medical Evangelists also passed the California state board examinations, Dr. Claire Nordyke-Brownsberger, class of '28, taking second place.

The Tuesday Evening club met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hankins on Starr avenue.